How to Reward Vulnerability to Increase Psychological Safety

1. Look
Look at the interactions and social dynamics around you.

2. Identify
Identify an act of vulnerability that should be rewarded.

L.I.V.E.

3. Validate
Validate the behavior so the person feels seen, heard, and understood.

4. Encourage
Encourage the person to continue modeling the vulnerable behavior.